TWO KILLED IN SHOOTING FRAY AT WASHINGTON

Disgruntled Law Practice Applicant Slays Policeman, Official.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16—A patrolman and a law association official were killed and three others wounded today in a gunfight started at the municipal court house by a disgruntled bar applicant.

The dead were identified by police as:

Hurvet Estes, a patrolman.

Ray Devendorf, 65-year-old clerk for the District of Columbia Bar association's committee on admissions and grievances.

The wounded reported by police:

Attorney George W. Dalzell, of Chevy Chase, Md., 69, executive secretary of the grievance committee.

Cecil Claig, a guard on duty at one of the doors of the courthouse building about five blocks from the capitol.

An unidentified Negro, whom police described as the unsuccessful applicant for admission to law practice.

Fired on Official

The first shots were fired in Devendorf's office on the third floor of the building which houses municipal courts.

Persons in the building at the time said the Negro went to the office and demanded return of the fee he had paid when he sought admission to the bar.

An argument ensued. Devendorf was shot in the face.

Then, the assailant turned toward Dalzell who was shot in the shoulder and face.

Eyewitnesses said the Negro walked calmly into the hall.

A Negro court messenger, George Clemons, said the man stopped and reloaded his gun.

Dalzell just then staggered to the hallway.

Bystanders said the gunman fired wildly in the general direction of Dalzell.

Walks from Building

Then, the gunman took an elevator to the ground floor and walked quickly out of the building.

Walter Bramhall, municipal court clerk, saw him then. Suspicious, Bramhall ran after him.

"The Negro was walking rapidly out of the building with his left hand holding his gun in his coat pocket," Bramhall told reporters afterwards.

Bramhall said he called to police and bystanders for help.

Estes and Claig gave chase, firing as they ran. Two blocks from the building, the fugitive turned and shot back.

Both pursuers were hit.

A third policeman dashed up and tackled the wounded gunman.

Bramhall, who witnessed the windup of the chase, told reporters:

"When I ran up the policeman was sitting on top of the man and pounding him. There was blood everywhere."

The final shooting occurred in front of a linoleum store at Sixth and F streets, a few blocks from Pennsylvania avenue—the capital's main street.

HOLDUP MAN KILLS DAYTON POLICEMAN

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 16—A holdup suspect killed a Dayton policeman and wounded another patrolman early today when they surprised him trying to break into a west side hardware store, police Inspector Frank Krug reported.

Patrolman Herman A. Drexler, 34, was killed as he stepped from a cruiser, shotgun in hand, and his companion, Patrolman James H. Tatum, 30, was felled by a round in the left hip, Krug reported.

After firing the shots, the holdup man walked down an alley where he had been "working on a rear door" to the hardware store, stood over the fallen Tatum, and, according to the inspector, said: "Now I'm going to shoot you, too ——."

The holdup man's gun misfired, however, and Tatum, still on the ground, beat him into unconsciousness with a blackjack.

Krug identified the gunman as Joseph A. Emerick, 34, of Dayton, and said he was being held at Miami Valley hospital without charge.

Drexler, who joined the force two and one half years ago, is survived by his widow and a two-month-old son.

11 Per Cent Cut For 1948 Asked In Navy's Budget

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16—An 11 per cent cut in the Navy's 1948 budget which may necessitate reducing the planned strength of the Navy and Marine Corps by 40,000 officers and men was recommended by the house appropriations committee today.

The committee chopped $377,519,200 from the $3,513,000,000 in new appropriations requested by President Truman, but it said it believes the lesser amount will be adequate "without sacrificing any of the efficiency of the fleet" or reducing "essential naval activities."

It called upon the Navy to reduce its personnel, both military and civilian, and to close some of its shore establishments.

The committee approved in full the $34,400,000 asked for research and the $170,000,000 in contract authority to buy new airplanes and equipment, plus $90,000,000 in cash for new planes.

HE HIT JACKPOT—Lady Luck was with Charles J. Porter, an ex-GI, when he walked into a New York bank and asked for a loan of $312. What Charley didn't know was that bank officials intended to reward any person who happened to come in seeking the billionth dollar loaned by their personal loan department. So the money held by the young restaurant owner was "on the house," as a free gift.

The total new appropriations amounting to $3,135,481,100 compared with $4,332,781,951 this year.

Along with the bill, which the house will debate next week, the committee made public an 1,800-page volume of printed testimony taken during consideration of the measure.

4 Points Made

The testimony contained:

1. A claim by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz that world peace and security "depend on a balance of power in which American and British seapower are arrayed on the same side."

2. A declaration by Secretary Forrestal that the United States is seeking and planning for peace but intends to safeguard its security.

3. Statements by Forrestal and his top aides that while "push button" warefare may be far away, the Navy expects to be ready if and when it comes and is working on guided missils, pilotless interceptor planes, targetseeking torpedoes, and the latest in what the future may require.

4. Estimates that a full year might be required to get the entire fleet of active and inactive ships into battle in the event of war.

"Some Reductions Necessary"

While the committee did not expressly order a reduction of 40,000 in Navy and Marine corps strength, members interpreted the action as likely to have that result. Chairman Taber told reporters "some reductions will be necessary."

The extent to which they will be made, he added, will depend on economies the Navy can effect in its own uniformed organization. For instance, he said, "they can cut down on the number of high-paid officers and keep more enlisted men, while if they keep the officers, they will have to cut down on the enlisted personnel."

The committee recommended a cut of seven per cent from budget estimates of $1,344,171,000 for pay and subsistence of naval personnel and a slightly higher cut in the $209,000,000 the Marine Corps requested for the same purpose.

No Harm Predicted

"While the reduction in the bill will necessitate a reduction in the total number of men available to the Navy," the committee said, "it is the opinion of the committee that this cut can well be made without harming the effectiveness of the fleet."

On the basis of a planned average enlisted strength of 425,000 for the Navy next year and 90,000 for the Marine Corps, the cuts if carried into effect would amount to approximately 30,000 and 5,300, respectively, plus 3,200 naval and 525 marine corps officers.

An even stiffer reduction, 25 per cent was recommended in the pay allowances for civilian naval employes. Complaining that it "is not at all pleased" by the "tremendous increase" in the number of civilian employes since 1939, the committee directed the navy to start paring the civilian rolls at once.

Mr. Truman had asked for $43,660,100 to pay an estimated 15,000 civilian employes. The committee cut that figure by $11,000,000, again without specifying what manpower savings were to be made.

Action by Units

The committee's action toward major components of the navy:

Research: The full $34,400,000 requested, in addition to which the Navy will have approximately $272,000,000 to spend for this work from funds for other bureaus and previous appropriations. The committee said it wants to "err on the side of liberality in research items."

Officer Candidate Training: $12,000,000, a reduction of $2,000,000.

Naval Reserve: The full $109,000,000 requested, with emphasis on the importance of maintaining

Phone Picket Lines Retire

Way Cleared for Resumption of Complete Service After 6 Weeks.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16 — Striking installation workers of the Western Electric Company today withdrew their picket lines in many areas, clearing the way for resumption of full telephone service for the first time in six weeks.

The action was taken in compliance with a recommendation by Ernest Weaver, president of the Association of Communications Equipment Workers, for removal of ACEW pickets where other unions have reached strike settlements with the Bell Telephone System. The ACEW claims 20,000 members in 43 states.

Pickets in West Virginia, Wisconsin, Illinois and New Jersey were among the first to withdraw in line with Weaver's decision, allowing other workers to report to their jobs.

In San Francisco, CIO long lines repairmen signed a back to work contract with the Pacific Telephone Company, covering repairmen in Washington, California, Nevada and part of Idaho.

In Cleveland, the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers rejected an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. wage offer, but negotiations were scheduled to proceed. At Springfield the entire night force returned to their jobs without a wage settlement.

In Detroit, progress was reported in efforts to end the strike against the Michigan Bell Telephone. A 26-hour negotiating session that ended last night, however, produced no agreement in the dispute involving 13,000 traffic and clerical workers.

WESTERN UNION HEARING COMPLETED AT MT. GILEAD

Decision in Case Not Expected Until Later in June.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, May 16—Hearings on a proposal of the Western Union Telegraph Co. to close six offices in Ohio ended here late yesterday.

Federal Communications Commission officials said files on testimony taken at the hearing would be closed May 29 and a 20-day period for filing briefs would follow.

A decision on the issue is not expected before the latter part of June. Those offices affected are located at Mt. Gilead, Marysville, Delphos, Bellefontaine, Ottawa and Lebanon.

Most of yesterday's testimony was submitted by representatives of the Commercial Telegraphers union, chief opponents of the plan to merge the telegraph offices with local telephone offices as an economy measure. Joseph Hostetler, Mt. Gilead photographer, was questioned extensively about [illegible] by Examiner [illegible] in charge of the hearing.

ACCUSE MARION MAN OF MAIL ROBBERY

Theft and Forgery Charged in Columbus.

City police working with the FBI and postal service arrested Elmer D. Griffis, 26, of 188 South Main street this morning on charges of mail robbery and forgery.

Griffis is accused of having stolen an Army allotment check from a mail box in Columbus and forged an endorsement on it to cash it at Sam Greenberg's store there. The check was made out to Conley B. Askins of 96 West First street in Columbus and was for $50. It was an allotment check from his brother dated March 1.

Griffis was picked up on West Center street at 1:36 a. m. The case is being investigated by the secret service and postal service, police reported.

Grifis was found guilty in Marion county common pleas court on Feb. 19 of being involved in a breakin of Ralph's Snappy service on West Center street. He has since been on probation of the court.

Shortly after that he took up residence in Columbus and returned to Marion March 31. Here he has been employed in a local factory.

Griffis will be taken to Columbus by a U. S. marshal to answer charges and officials of common pleas court were checking to see whether a charge of parole violation should be brought against him.

EX-RED ENTERS MOVIE INQUIRY

"I Chose Freedom" Author, Who Bolted Russia, Testifies.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, May 16—With a Russian ex-Communist popping up suddenly in mid-investigation, the probe by a house subcommittee on un-American activities in Hollywood took on aspects of a movie spy thriller story.

After such prominent film folk as actor Adolphe Menjou, novelist Rupert Hughes and producer Jack Warner put the Communist tag on various filmland persons and organization, the subcommittee's inquiry hit a dramatic peak with the entry of Viktor A. Kravchenko former Soviet official who renounced Communism in 1944.

Hours earlier, a threat on Kravchenko's life was reported to police by his Beverly Hills host, Lee R. Brooks, businessman who may produce an anti-Communist film based on Kravchenko's experiences.

Statements Not Disclosed

Kravchenko's statements to the committee were not disclosed but Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) said that the Russian, who left the Soviet purchasing commission in Washington to write the book, "I Chose Freedom," was under subpoena to appear June 26 in Washington.

Thomas said he would ask the U. S. attorney general to place Kravchenko under 24-hour surveillance, "to give him the protection of the federal government."

Hollywood was classified by Menjou as "one of the main centers of Communistic activity in America, due to the fact that one of the greatest mediums of propaganda is located here," Thomas reported.

Hughes declared he told the committee that the film capital is "lousy with Communists, some of them making $3,000 to $5,000 weekly and whom you couldn't get to go to Russia in a million years."

Names Screen Writers

Thomas said Hughes named specific screen writers and gave the serial number of their Communist party cards. The committee chairman said these names will be made public "at the proper time."

The committee also received names from Warner, studio head, who said "I told 'em everything I might have known of subversive activities in the film industry."

Another who appeared yesterday before the committee was director Leo McCarey, who told newsmen "he was glad of the opportunity to cooperate with them." He declined to comment on the nature of his testimony.

Other witnesses included Kravchenko's host, Brooks, and screen writer Howard Emmet Rogers, who said he was interested in doing the film story of the Russian's book.

Million Tons of U. S., British Food Sent To Reich This Year

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, May 16 — More than a million tons of food was provided Germans by the United States and the United Kingdom in the first three and one-half months of this year to support the German feeding program against disease and unrest, the latest report of the American military governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, said today.

Approximately 75 per cent of the food was allocated to the British occupied zone, where the food crisis admittedly is more acute, and the rest to the U. S. occupied areas.

While the report covering conditions in the American zone through March gave little hope of improvement in the supply of food before the next harvest, it struck a more optimistic note on industrial recovery and predicted that all the ground lost during the winter should be made up by the end of May.

Continuance until the next harvest of the official 1,550-calory ration for the normal consumer, which officials admit is a starvation level, depends "on the availability of indigenous food and on adequate imports," Gen. Clay reported. He said meat and fat rations were smaller than in any previous period since the beginning of the occupation.

Approximately 3,550,00 children in the British and American zones, meantime, were getting a ration-free meal of 350 calories daily at school in areas in the greatest need of supplementary feeding. Former President Herbert Hoover recommended this program, which was put into effect in mid-April.

Other highlights of the report included:

Black market activities of juveniles continued to increase and in Hesse a band of 17 teenagers lived entirely in this way, changing their city of operation every two-to-four weeks.

Illegal crossing of the border jumped with improved weather. Border police in the U. S. zone turned back 22,427 persons, arrested 1,000 and confiscated goods valued at 300,000 reichsmarks.

Swift progress on the dismantling of German war potential was reported with the [illegible] or destruction of 496 plants in the American zone completed to 73 [illegible] ment from the U. S. zone, totaled 50,358 tons at the end of March with the Soviet Union receiving approximately 95 per cent of it.

Truancy showed a marked increase because the right to fine parents for their children's unauthorized absence from school was withdrawn from the burgermeisters.

TRUMAN LABOR BILL APPROVAL PREDICTED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16—Republican Senators Taft (Ohio) and Ives (NY) said today President Truman's stand pat position on his own labor law recommendations still leaves the door open for White House approval of the senate union curb bill.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday that he is sticking with the four points he outlined to congress in his state of the union message last January.

This was in reply to a question whether he thinks there should be labor legislation beyond the provisions of the anti-portal pay bill he approved earlier this week.

Taft, chairman of the senate's G.O.P. policy and labor committees, said a reporter "there is nothing inconsistent in the senate bill with the things the President recommended," he added.

"Of course we don't recommend the whole law, but we agree to the [illegible] recommended."

BUILDING AND STOCK BURNED

Fumes from Chemicals Hamper Firemen in Battling 4:30 A. M. Blaze.

Damage estimated at $90,000 resulted when flames destroyed the Marion Plant Life Fertilizer Co. on West Center street early this morning. Fire was first seen by Walter Christian, night mechanic at the Marion Rapid Transit Co. garage located across the street. He turned in the alarm. Firemen arrived at about 4:30 a. m. and battled flames for nearly an hour before they were under control. A second alarm was turned in at 4:50, Chief Owen Sifritt said.

The company's main building about 200 feet long housing fertilizer mixing apparatus, a store room and office was destroyed along with a small addition to the west. For a time embers from the blaze threatened the bus garage across the street, but only minor damage was done to the asphalt roof. Two box cars partially unloaded which stood on a siding near the building's loading platform were partially burned; damage being estimated at $500 on the two cars. Loss on the fertilizer plant was partially covered by insurance.

No Highly Combustible Chemicals

George Alber, owner of the plant, said he knew of no materials in the building which were highly combustible, and firemen were unable to determine immediately the cause of the blaze. Mr. Alber said he and other employes left the building about 8:45 last night.

The building was of corrugated iron over a wooden frame with interior partitions of wood on a cement block foundation. Along the south and west walls of the building were 12 bins containing raw materials for fertilizer, Mr. Alber said the supplies on hand consisted of 100 tons of sulphate, 53 tons of phosphate, 80,000 paper bags and 68 tons of completed fertilizer. Equipment destroyed included a mixing machine, conveyor belt running the length of the structure, a delivery truck, a new air compressor and office equipment.

Had Planned To Enlarge

Materials stored in the building did not include any ammonium nitrate, a fertilizer constituent which is highly inflammable, Mr. Alber said. An explosion aboard a ship loaded with ammonium nitrate started the recent Texas City holocaust.

Mr. Alber said the main part of the structure was finished about one and one-half years ago. He had planned to build another addition facing on Center street. The company was at its top production season and had just passed the peak a few days ago, he explained. Large supplies of finished fertilizer which had been stored in the building had only recently been delivered.

Seven hose lines were used at the height of the fire, and a number of these were kept playing on piles of materials which smouldered until about 8:30 this morning. Both companies from Central fire station and the company from West Center street also were on the job. The fire threatened the bus garage, where employes were removing gasoline from gas tanks in buses, and employes were ordered to stay away to the building, Chief Sifritt said.

Mr. Alber said he hopes to rebuild the plant but still is undecided as to the plans.

By The Associated Press

RANTOUL, Ill., May 15—Socorro Villagran, a 17-year-old soldier, was held in jail today formally charged with murder in connection with the stabbing and strangulation of Edna Lacille Kietzman, attractive 21-year-old beauty operator.

C. and O. Pocket Size Time Table Chases Eye Strain

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 16 — Chesapeake and Ohio today put its time table on a pocket size cardboard calculator, designed to save the frustrated traveler the eye-crossing chore of scanning column after column of figures.

The gadget consists of two rectangular pieces of cardboard, four by seven inches, with two rotating discs sandwiched between. The discs have the names of the principal stations printed on their perimeters, which stick out a fraction of an inch beyond the rounded edges of the covers.

On the covers — one side for eastbound, the other westbound — are printed the names and numbers of the passenger trains. On the left, marked "Leave," is a little window showing only one segment of the left disc. On the right, marked "Arrive," is a window showing one segment of the right disc.

If you are in Cincinnati and want to go to Washington, you turn the left disc until "Cincinnati" on the rim is above the left window. That shows departure times opposite the names of the trains. Then you turn the right disc until "Washington" on the rim is above the right window, and that shows arrival times opposite the names of the trains. All departure and arrival times for other stations are out of sight.

BOWLES ASKS CUT IN PRICES

Ex-OPA Head Advocates Drop While Boosting Wages 15 Cents.

WASHINGTON, May 16 — Chester Bowles yesterday proposed a 10 per cent price roll back and widespread adoption of 15 per cent an hour wage boosts to ward off what he called an "imminent" business collapse.

Bowles' report, drafted by a committee which included two other former OPA chiefs, was issued under the sponsorship of Americans for Democratic Action, the self-proclaimed "liberal" political organization headed by ex-housing expediter Wilson Wyatt.

"While it is no longer possible to prevent some kind of business reaction, it is possible to prevent that reaction from degenerating into a collapse such as followed World War I, with widespread unemployment, bankruptcies and foreclosures," the report asserted.

6 Steps Advocated

In addition to price cuts and wage increases, the committee advocated:

1. Scrapping the pending 10 to 30 per cent tax cut program and substituting a measure hiking personal exemptions from $500 to $700. This, the Bowles group said, would provide two-thirds of the relief to persons with net (after exemption) incomes below $3,000 instead of only half as under the congressional proposal.

2. Reduction or elimination of excise taxes on such things as freight, electric power, admissions, gasoline and cigarets.

3. A "prompt cut of at least 20 per cent" in home construction costs, to be achieved by collaboration of federal agencies with industry and labor groups; also, "revival" of the factory-homes program.

4. An increase in, and extension of, unemployment compensation; minimum wages raised from 40 to 65 cents an hour and wage-hour law protection extended to farm hands and others not now covered.

5. Extension of rent control to June 30, 1948; federal underwriting of 1,500,000 housing units a year, of which one third would be public housing for low income families.

6. Larger federal outlays for housing and foreign loans; full price support for farm products, and extension of crop insurance.

It is estimated that an ordinary elm tree of medium size will give off 15,000 pounds of water on a clear, dry, hot day.

New Generation Takes Over On Old Corner

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 16—Every city boy who moves away has a neighborhood corner he wants sometime to come back to.

So I came back to mine—Thirty-First street and Woodland avenue. It's a middle-class corner like ten thousand others across the land.

Hal Boyle

Death came before me, and made the neighborhood strange. Old "Pop" Hudson, a gentle druggist, was done at last with pills, panaceas, lipstick and headache remedies. He went down all at once like a tired sun at the end of a long day. In the same way passed clunky "Ollie" Eylar, the neighborhood undertaker, who had buried so many friends he just came to feel the company was better on the other side of the dark line.

But I. Hammer, the shoe man, was still there, looking no older than he did 20 years ago. He has stayed on the corner selling and repairing shoes and raising a family for 35 years

"Business Still Good"

"Business is still good—enough for a man who doesn't expect to get rich," he said "There was too much to do in the war years. I am just catching up. People who moved away from the corner years ago still drive by to leave me their shoes to fix.

"I fixed their shoes when they were children. Now they bring me their children's shoes. It hasn't been a neighborhood to make a lot of money, but I've made many, many friends."

Hammer came from Europe. He has no desire to go back.

"One man on this corner made $20,000 and went back to the old country a rich man," he said. "Now he is broke and wants to come back. I told him not to leave. I have a good life here. I want to stay."

Repents on Haircut

Jim Collins, getting gray but still a steady man with the scissors, gave me a haircut in the same shop I used to sell newspapers as a boy. Jim must have come from a small town. He is always mad at the city boys who divorce their wives.

"She was a nice country girl," he says, and that makes the husband a villain.

The boys are still trying to put the eight ball in the side pocket in the neighborhood pool parlor, but the place is under new management and the dice game in the back room is shut down. Kansas City has gone pure in politics.

There is a cluster of beer parlors with neon lights, but they close down early too so the customer can get up in time to go to work on weekdays and to church on Sundays.

Houses Run Down

In the block where my family has lived for 25 years have come many changes. The elm trees are higher and thicker. The houses look a little run down, but they're being fixed up.

Dad used to own the house next door to our own. He bought it in flush times. But one day during the depression he got tired of the $1,000 mortgage on it and told a man to keep the house and the mortgage and forget the whole matter. My best friend as a child—he died in youth—lived there and it holds many memories. Now it is broken up into apartments and I don't know the faces that look across from the new porch.

The "old grouch" who used to own the white cottage across the street is long dead. We used to tease him by stealing from his cherry trees. He got even by keeping any baseballs we accidentally knocked up on his lawn.

I told my mother it must be much pleasanter for her now that all the children in the block were grown up and gone.

"Why, there are still 23 kids in this block," she laughed. "You didn't think just because you grew up and left that the children would quit coming, did you?"

Yes, I did. I thought the kids I ran with would somehow own the block forever. Now we don't even belong.

SLASH IN GERMAN RATIONS PROPOSED

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 15—German officials proposed today a temporary slash in the official rations in the British and American zones as food experts of both zones met in emergency session on western Germany's grave food crisis.

Government sources in London said British troops would seek to crush a large-scale black market which is held largely responsible for the critical situation. British troops will search farmlands for hidden stocks which, the informants said, are hoarded for diversion into black market channels.

Reports reaching Berlin from the Soviet zone indicated that the Russians, too, were experiencing difficulty meeting ration scales in eastern Germany, although the situation there was believed to be less acute.

Wallace Asks U. S. Aid World

Says 150 Billion Dollar American Program Needed To Save Globe.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 16—A 150 billion dollar program of American exports and investments throughout the world is proposed by Henry A. Wallace, who says that the only hope for peace "is a major effort to restore the world economy by the use of American resources."

The former vice president, speaking at a rally at the Chicago stadium Wednesday night asserted the "Truman doctrine may not lead to war, but it will never lead to peace.

"The one and only road to peace is a program of action based on a priority not of political reliability but of human needs."

Greeted with Cheers

Wallace was greeted with cheers by the crowd which filled to overflowing the stadium, which has a seating capacity of more than 20,000. Many at the rally, for which admission prices ranged from 60 cents to $2.40, joined in shouting "Wallace for '48" when he was introduced.

Mention of President Truman's name by speakers at the rally was greeted with some booing. Other speakers included R. J. Thomas, vice president of the CIO-UAW, and singer Paul Robeson.

Wallace, who told the rally that "the administration is playing politics with the misery of Europe," defined the "Truman doctrine" "a curious mixture of power politics and international carpet bagging," and a "doctrine of unlimited aid to anti-Soviet governments. He added, "I predict that one day we shall bitterly regret the action that congress has taken."

He said that the program he advocated "is the constructive alternative to the Truman doctrine. It approaches the needs of the world from a standpoint of all humanity. It set these goals:

"To restore living standards in Europe and Asia to pre-war levels—that means investment of five billion dollars a year by America for five years; to raise living standards of eastern Europe to those of western Europe — that means investment of five billion a year by America for five years."

Poison Ivy

Summer and autumn are wonderful times for outdoor fun. These are the seasons for trips to the parks and woods, but all the joy of a moonlit stroll or a late afternoon picnic is killed if it also means contact with the group of poisonous plants known as poison ivy, poison vine, or poison oak.

These mischief makers grow everywhere — in gardens, vacant lots, back yards, woods and fields, wreathing themselves around trees and over fences, and if we are to enjoy our open-air seasons to the full, we must be on guard against them.

In the first place, everybody should learn to recognize them. Unfortunately all are attractive-looking plants. Poison ivy is a climbing plant with a rather pretty dark-green leaf which turns a rich and lovely brown in autumn. Each leaf is divided into three leaflets and it bears a white berry. In the sap of the ivy there is an oil which causes skin inflammation when it comes in contact with the bare skin. The more thoroughly it comes in contact with the skin and the more it is rubbed into the skin, the worse is the reaction which occurs.

The first symptoms of ivy poisoning are redness and slight swelling over the parts of the skin which have been exposed. Within 24 hours, blisters form and there is a great deal of itching and burning. Naturally the affected person scratches and this tends to make the inflamamtion worse. The blisters break open and the fluid escapes and spreads over unaffected areas of the body, causing new outbreaks of skin inflammation.

The length of time required to get rid of the difficulty will depend on the severity of the condition and how sensitive the patient is to the poison ivy, as well as the type of treatment carried out. Even a mild attack may persist for several weeks, interfering with sleep and producing nervousness.

If a person thinks that the has been exposed to ivy poisoning, he should return home at once and take off his outer garments, being careful that they do not get in contact with the skin. He should then take a bath, using plenty of soap and water.

In treating the condition, wet compresses are most often advised, a usual one being a substance known as liquor aluminum acetate diluted as the physician directs. Boric acid solutions may be employed instead. It is best to have the ivy poisoning treated under the directions of a physician.

61 INDICTED IN MILK STRIKE AFTERMATH

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, May 16—Sixty-one men, including several AFL union officials, were indicted by the federal grand jury here yesterday on charges of conspiracy to interfere with interstate commerce during the recent Louisiana milk strike.

The indictment charged the alleged conspiracy included the halting of trucks and trains carrying milk to New Orleans; seizure of milk from the trains; seizure of trucks; shooting at trucks which failed to stop for roadblocks; and demands that milk distributors cease shipping through the strike area to New Orleans.

Those indicted yesterday include 24 who were indicted on April 2 on charges of retarding the mail or larceny of goods in interstate commerce in connection with the strike.

Maximum penalty for the violation charged is 20 years' imprisonment, $10,000 fine ,or both, for each defendant.

Most of those named in both indictments are residents of the "Florida parishes" the section of Louisiana north of New Orleans and east of the Mississippi river.

Members of the dairy farmers' unions in those parishes, affiliated with the AFL Brotherhoods of Teamsters, conducted a ten-day strike last March and April principally against the lowering of prices paid by New Orleans dairies. The price paid for highest grade of milk had been lowered from $5.75 to $5.20 per hundredweight.

The strike was called off after futile attempts to negotiate by a committee of legislators, appointed by Governor Jimmie Davis.

The strike ended on April 3.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Ohio Prime Tornado Target but Winds Fire Mostly Blanks

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 16—Statistics may show Ohio as a prime tornado target, but Columbus meteorologist contends that it would take 5,000 years for twisters to decimate one per cent of the state at the present rate.

From the tornado section of a newly published survey of Ohio weather by George Mindling, it is disclosed that most of the state's tornadoes with the single exception of the Lorain-Sandusky disaster in 1924 have been of the type that occurred Tuesday at Fairlawn when 26 persons were injured. Property damages were in excess of $1,000,000.

In fact, Mindling reported, the Lorain-Sandusky tornado that killed 85 persons and caused property loss totaling $12,000,000 was one of the nation's five worst tornadoes—has caused "approximately half of all known property damage and loss of life" from tornadoes in Ohio.

Records of five Ohio tornadoes with property damages exceeding a million dollars are reported by Mindling, plus a score of others blamed for $100,000 damage each.

Since 1931, the study shows, 10 Ohioans have died because of tornadoes, including two killed by a waterspout near Lorain on May 4, 1938. Four deaths occurred in 1943, plus 265 injured. The Akron-Mogadore twister of April 27, 1943, accounted for 200 of the year's tornado injuries.

Springfield was hit by the most recent tornado last Jan. 30 with damages totaling $250,000. This tornado struck far out of the March through June season.

FEDERAL SCHOOL AID BILL REPORTED KILLED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16—The house Republican leadership was reported yesterday to have issued orders to the labor committee to kill a bill which would give states $300,000,000 a year in federal aid for the schools.

A high-ranking party member told reporters the orders will be carried out because of G.O.P. pledges to hold down government spending.

Majority Leader Halleck of Indiana, asked about the report said "there has been no determination on the matter."

A subcommittee still is holding hearings on the bill, he said, and they are "not just a gesture." But he also said:

"Of course, we are not exactly hunting ways to spend more money. And many states have done a lot in the last year for their schools and teachers."

Rep. McCowen (R-Ohio), who introduced the federal aid bill heads the subcommittee which has been holding hearings on it for weeks.

Most of the long list of witnesses, including many teachers, have favored the measure.

It calls for spending $200,000,000 in the year ending June 30, 1948, $25,000,000 in the next year, and $300,000,000 annually after that.

McCowen said the bill would make it possible for each state to get enough federal money to add to state and local school funds, to spend at least $40 a year for each student in public and secondary schools.

Jet Plane Record Holder Killed in Xenia Smashup

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., May 16—One of the jet-propelled planes that carried Capt. Martin L. Smith, army test pilot, to an unofficial world speed mark of 619-miles-an-hour snuffed out his life yesterday in a crash on a farm near neighboring Xenia, O.

Second in command of the jet-propulsion test division at the army's Wright field, Smith was flying a P-80 pursuit ship on a routine hop when the plane went out of control and plunged into a hollow.

The 27-year-old Kidder, Mo., pilot held almost every known American jet-plane mark. In January, 1946 he raced from Long Beach, Calif., to New York City in the record time of 29 minutes and 33 seconds, and his Washington to Wright field flight in 60 minutes has not been surpassed.

RUSS REQUEST DUAL ARAB-JEWISH STATE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 16—Soviet Russia's cagily-worded declaration for a dual, democratic Arab-Jewish state in Palestine stood out today as the puzzler of the United Nations special assembly on the Holy Land question.

Delegates from nations scattered around the globe noted with satisfaction that Russia had tipped her hand even a little bit on the Palestine problem. But they asked: how does Russia propose that such a dual, democratic state work?

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, in his surprise talk did not clear up that point. But he did say that if the animosities between Jew and Arab were such that this state could not live, then Russia felt it would be necessary to consider dividing Palestine into two states, one Jewish and one Arab.

These are points which the 11-nation commission of inquiry, finally set up yesterday by the assembly just before it adjourned, must consider. Arrangements were made for the commission to meet at Lake Success May 26. After it is organized, the commission is expected to fly to Palestine and begin its task.

Police Laboratory Seeks Clues to Atlanta Slayer

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, May 16 — Police studied the findings of a laboratory examination today for some clue that might lead them to the sex slayer of Mrs. Paul Refoule, comely auburn-haired society matron who was raped and strangled at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Although it was undetermined at the time her bruised body was found in historic Peachtree creek, the sex motive was established late yesterday by Dr. Herman Jones of the Fulton (Atlanta) county crime laboratory.

G.O.P. Economy Drive Snags on Airport Fund

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 15—The economy drive by the house appropriations committee bumped into a bi-partisan demand today for more money to build up the nation's airport system.

G.O.P. leaders conceded privately that Rep. Rooney (D-NY) would succeed in putting over his amendment to add $4,849,000 for air traffic control towers in 150 cities to an omnibus $333,728,000 supply bill.

Democrats were ready to follow that up with another amendment which would restore $32,500,000 the appropriations committee lopped off a $85,000,000 budget estimate for federal-aid airport building throughout the country.

Despite these two fights the leadership planned a final vote during the day on the bill financing the state, justice and commerce departments and the federal courts for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Not All in Fun

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S message to congress on signing the bill outlawing most portal-to-portal claims sounds like a good-natured statement about an issue joined in good faith. There is no hint that he knew the portal claims were an attempt to milk the public of billions more dollars of war-work gravy after the war was over. Obviously, Mr. Truman has begun to build his picket-line fences for 1948.

The portal-to-portal claims were not made in good faith. They did not represent the feelings of the workingmen in whose name they were entered. They were a legalistic, hair-splitting grab for money that was never earned for work that was never performed, a grab which would have bled the U. S. treasury of huge tax refunds for the benefit of workers who had used an unemployment device, the limited work week, to run the cost of World War II into astronomical proportions. The public doesn't share the opinion that the claims were all in fun.

Mr. Truman's right to play politics is undisputed. But his message on signing the bill outlawing the portal-to-portal claims is an insult to men who fought the war with no hope or claim of compensation for the time they spent traveling to and from their travail.

A Tricky One Trapped

SENTENCING of Hjalmar Schacht to eight years at hard labor means retribution finally has caught up with one of the Nazis' slickest operators. Herr Schacht, an acidulous old man specializing in financial legerdemain, had a remarkable facility for landing on his feet. He was reported out of favor with Hitler on several occasions but always came back stronger than ever.

As early as 1931, the Germans were repeating this verse about him:

> And when we go to war at last,
> Just fight and die, you dufferl
> But win or lose, the war once past,
> Be sure Herr Schacht won't suffer.

Schacht was a tricky one to bring to book. The Nuremburg tribunal cleared him of complicity in international war crimes, but the German denazification court, judging him in the light of his service, or disservice, to Germany, decided he was guilty.

Postwar Housecleaning

THE Sudeten Germans, whom the herrenvolk once believed were the advance guard in Greater Germany's drive for lebensraum, are an uprooted people. Once there were 3,800,000 of them in Czechoslovakia. Now there are only 229,000 and by the end of the year there will be less than 100,000.

Czechoslovakia is cleaning them out, lock, stock and swastika, so that it never again will be faced with an arrogant German minority. Removal of more than 3,000,000 persons, more than 25 per cent of the total population, is bound to cause internal economic disturbances, but the Czechs are willing to pay the price.

Meanwhile the nation has called in its nationals from all over the world. Miners and farmers are coming back from France, soldiers from the Allied armies, and 10,000 who emigrated to Argentina in 1926 are preparing to return.

In its short history Czechoslovakia has been a polyglot nation; its very name shows its hybrid character. Yet in the prewar years it had attained quite a high standard of living and its postwar recovery has been rapid. With the Germans out of the Sudetenland, it may be able to demonstrate to the Middle European peoples how to live together without being continually at sword's point.

Thanks to Efficiency

WITH this country's usual flair for getting hipped on one thing at a time, it has been neglecting the efficiency of business enterprises which have held down prices. Many of them have raised prices only a fraction of what could have been justified. A few haven't raised prices at all, making up in greater efficiency all the increases in wages and materials which affected them. Contrary to an impression diligently promoted, not all business enterprises has made more money, either. In many cases, conscientious management has sacrificed profits temporarily for the sake of holding consumers' good will in the long pull.

It isn't the sort of thing that politicians talk about. It doesn't lend itself to statistical presentation. The people who do most of the speaking for labor unions can't be expected to admit it. But the fact is that the United States owes a heavy debt of gratitude to the efficiency of management during this interval of postwar price inflation. If all management had taken the attitude early in the game that it had no obligation to hold down the cost of living, things could have been a lot worse.

More than 32,000,000 pounds of ammonium chloride, used chiefly in tanner's bate, flour aging and soldering and galvanizing fluxes, were produced in the United States during the first half of 1946.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Passage of Labor Bill Over Veto in Doubt.

WASHINGTON, May 16—Some papers have been reporting that the senate passed the union reform bill with more than enough for two thirds to sustain it over President Truman's veto. Technically it did. Actually it did not. Voting for the bill were 21 Democrats, of whom six or seven are considered likely to switch and support the President, if and when he vetoes. Only four switches would be necessary to reverse the result, and six or seven are considered probable, the issue actually lay in peril and doubt.

AFL's Bill Green has been yodeling crescendo that the union reform bill will reduce workers to slavery while the stock market has been declining, mourning that it is too little, too late.

Certain more or less objective lawyers, who have been over the accepted final provisions of both house and senate bills, do not believe these substantiate the opinion of either side. They say the bill will amount to as much as the administration of it, no more, no less.

A reasonable, fair, legal administration of the proposed law would give the unions about as even a chance at genuine collective bargaining as they need. Indeed this might prove to be a real break for the unions to evolve from their mistakes which might have brought them to disaster, enabling them to escape serious consequences from the excesses which have plunged them into public disfavor. This legislation may force them to do what they should have done for themselves, making their worst abuses difficult, and establishing a legal union responsibility which will require good leadership by the union bosses. That could happen.

On the other hand, a prejudiced union or employer administration of the law could make it either ineffective on one hand, or punitively anti-labor on the other.

Bargaining Not Curtailed

No genuine bargaining right of labor is curtailed, although some union advantages are subjected to federal administration. Calamitous national strikes are made subject to a 75 day injunction, which would force a cooling-off period, forcing them to open public trial of the facts. This could be a blessing for the unions in disguise, as a few more national strikes like those of last year would certainly force some worse restraints than the proposed free trial in open court on the injunction process.

The unions would be required to make regular financial reports which AFL has been submitting to its members and public anyway. CIO will have to do the same in the interests of those who pay the money to it. Unfair labor practices must be paid for in court, if damages are established. Union responsibility for their contracts is made subject to the federal courts. Certainly the unions cannot claim they must have unfair rights, must be able to damage business without liability in unjustified strikes or sitdown attacks, or be able to violate contracts at whim, while holding the employer to the same contract. A properly run union does not need the right to be unfair while holding its adversary to fairness. It merely needs the same right as everyone else.

Similarly the closed shop is barred, but the union shop is maintained when a simple majority of a union want it. The union shop is the closed shop. It requires that an employee join a union after he gets his job instead of before. Thus a simple majority of the union can force every employee to join the union. Thus the closed shop is not banned by this bill, but made democratically workable.

On all fours with this is the so-called ban of the checkoff which makes the companies collect union dues from all employees and turn these over to the union. The bill says this can be done only when the individual employee requests it in writing. All the unions have to do is to get their members to ask for the checkoff, and if this is done, it will not be banned.

No Forced Silence

Employers may talk. The unions do not need the silence of employers to get their rights. Communist-led unions would be denied the rights of the bill for collective bargaining. This should help the union leaders to clear their unions of Communism, which is what they say they want but cannot themselves do. And so on.

In all consideration of the provisions accepted so far by both houses, you can see the unions generally should operate more effectively under this bill if they wish to. But if they wish to sabotage it with a national general strike, or slowdowns, or question the fairness of courts, or merely supercede it by two-year contracts like autos, steel and the other big unions, they can do these things also. By their tactics, they will largely determine the nature their opposition will take. If more than this legislation is needed to protect the public and assure a good productive economy for the country, certainly agitation for stronger action will naturally eventuate.

This possibility is what the market seems to be gloomy about. England is now proving Socialism is a gradual approach to no production at all. A union class government must naturally give increasingly greater benefits to workers, reducing work and increasing pay constantly. England has already carried this process to the point where she cannot produce enough of the only natural resource she has, to run her factories sufficiently to gain export balances and sustain a successful economy. But such tactics in the past have led to strong army governments which require enough work for satisfactory national production—the Socialism of totalitarianism in Russia which has not been especially successful in its continuous five year plan and the Socialism of Hitler and Mussolini. The poison preferred determines the nature of the antidote.

However, there is nothing in this situation, or in this bill so far, which a reasonable judicial federal leadership could not cure in a democratic way, or to prevent genuine unionism from improving its bargaining position on a permanent basis.

Man's Miracles Naught Compared to Woman's

Now on the market is an automatic device which informs the little woman what time her husband comes home.

In the pre-atomic era, Grandma achieved the same effect by balancing a dishpan halfway up the stairs.

Still, this electronic stool-pigeon will doubtless add to the number of gents who hold to the conviction that science has quit progressing and gone to meddling.

Mass produced, the new gadget can be made to sell for $15, declares its inventor, who apparently anticipates a high replacement rate due to husbandal sabotage.

Another handy home appliance currently being readied for the domestic market is an adaptation of the intoxi-meter, widely used in police circles to determine if a subject has been drinking . . . as if there were ever a woman who needed one.

For all the marvels of this modern age, there are still some things which women do better without extra equipment, as witness the inferiority of the mechanical lie detector.

Realizing that, for all its phenomenal achievements, it cannot compete with feminine intuition, let science turn its research to fields where its aid is really needed, such as applying the principle of the electric-eye to a device which will open that door for Richard.

Is Recession Already Here?

Slack Demand for Luxury Goods May Be Tipoff.

SOMETHING new was introduced into forecasts of a coming recession recently when a New York University professor, Raymond Rogers, announced that the recession was here. Like inflation, which people continued to talk about as something that might happen long after it actually had happened, recession will sneak up gradually on public awareness.

Dr. Rogers pointed out that recession so far had affected only luxury and so-called soft goods. He might have pointed out further that the cause of a recession is nothing more mysterious than the inability of consumers to buy what is being offered to them.

This condition itself is difficult to determine. Statistics can only indicate the fluctuations of buying power between various income groups. For example, waning demand for luxury goods only means that these things have moved out of the range of a mass market. They are still within the range of upper-income groups.

The key to booms is equitable distribution of buying power and buying desire. Contrary to much of the economic nonsense being circulated about prices, they seem to have relatively little to do with the matter. Prices are important only in relation to wages. In other words, if wages continue to rise, prices cannot fall. Or if they did fall it might be the sign of serious trouble; it might mean that too high wage rates had forced buyers out of the market, causing business to be stuck with top-heavy inventories that couldn't be unloaded without loss. The inevitable result would be unemployment as orders are cancelled.

Last previous recession in the United States began gradually in the late summer of 1937. In August the Federal Reserve Board's seasonally adjusted index of industrial production stood at 120. In May, 1938, it had sagged to 80. Though it picked up before the end of the year, finally going over 100, it never regained its 1937 peak until the war boom began, in 1939. The National Industrial Conference Board estimated the total of unemployment rose from 7,243,000 in 1937 to 9,910,000 in 1938.

Industrial production sagged worst in the heavy industries. Iron and steel production flopped 67 per cent, auto production 69 per cent. It is being recalled in this connection that President Roosevelt proclaimed in April of 1937 that prices of steel, copper and cement in particular were too high and PWA purchases of these materials therefore would be curtailed.

Can We Do the Job?

Peoples, Not Pashas

By STEWART ALSOP

This is the second of three columns summarizing Stewart Alsop's conclusions after three months in the Middle East and England.

* * *

"HERE! You nurse it a bit if you like!" the Duchess said to Alice, flinging the baby at her as she spoke. "I must go and get ready to play croquet with the Queen," and she hurried out of the room. The cook threw a frying pan at her as she went, but it just missed her. Alice caught the baby with some difficulty . . . .

It is odd but true that American foreign policy began to take really decisive shape only when England, which had been quietly dandling the Greek baby since the end of the war, suddenly flung it at the state department's head.

The reason for the British decision was less frivolous than the Duchess's; the grim British postwar economic crisis rather than croquet with the Queen had made the drain of supporting the Greek economy insupportable to Britain. Yet the prospects for a real British economic revival in the near future are far from bright. There are signs that other babies which the British have been dandling will therefore soon be dropped in the American lap. Indeed, among anti-American Left circles in England a certain glum glee is taken in the prospect of bombarding the United States with British political babies. "Teaching America the facts of life," the process is called.

Not Satisfied

Yet the serious and responsible policy makers of both England and the United States, faced with Soviet ambitions equally dangerous to both powers, are far from satisified that this process of baby hurling is the best way of achieving the mutual Anglo-American objective of stopping further Soviet expansion. It is for this reason that both in the state department and in the British foreign office increasing thought is being given to the possibility of arriving at some sort of working partnership agreement on foreign policy during the next few months.

The objectives of such an agreement would be twofold. First, the particular areas of responsibilities of each power would be settled. In such a settlement, due weight would be given to the present temporary economic plight of Great Britain, and certain economic and political commitments which England cannot now afford to support would be shared or perhaps in some cases completely taken over by the United States. Second, an attempt would be made to develop a parallel foreign-policy line for such areas as the Middle East.

In fact, the first tentative moves in this direction have already been made. Some weeks ago H. Freeman Matthews, state department career man, flew to London to confer with Sir Orme Sargent, permanent under secretary of the foreign office. The most pressing subject of discussion was the length of stay of the British troops in Greece, but before the two men parted the whole general issue of Anglo-American policy toward the Middle East had been tentatively canvassed. Perhaps as a result of this conversation, George C. Marshall, secretary of state, made a significant request of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin while in Moscow. He asked Mr. Bevin for a copy of what had come to be known as the "Peoples, Not Pashas" memorandum.

Would Change System

This memorandum was prepared under Mr. Bevin's supervision during his first months as foreign secretary. Broadly, it recommended that the traditional British technique for retaining influence in colonial areas — the technique of exercising control through a tiny group of rich "pashas" at the top—be discarded. Instead, great programs for raising the standard of living of the whole people in these areas should be instituted. The memorandum was at first hailed as a great state paper, but a long, sober look at the state of the British treasury (for such a program would require a large financial investment) consigned the paper to temporary oblivion. In the Middle East (in Iraq and Trans-Jordan, for example), the traditional British imperial technique is still being rather wearily and hesitantly employed.

Yet for many months the state department's policy makers, and especially the foreign-service officers on the spot in the Middle East, have become increasingly convinced that only a "peoples, not pashas approach to the Middle East would in the long run provide an effective counter to the Soviet political imperialism. Thus, Mr. Marshall's request to Mr. Bevin was significant. A joint Anglo-American program on such lines is no doubt under consideration.

Such a program for the Middle East (and indeed for many other parts of the world) would be no more than the logical extension of the "Truman Doctrine." No one, of course, has any idea how such a program would work out in detail. Yet certain obvious points are worth noting. First, the program would cost money, but it would not be a question only of money. It would be necessary to make certain that the money was actually used for the benefit of the many rather than for the profit of a few. That would mean the close involvement of the United States in the political affairs of the Middle East. Second, no one who has seen the Middle East at first hand has the slightest doubt that such a program would work only with genuine British cooperation. Third, some new technique for financing and managing the program, including large grants of authority, would be required. Finally, in the opinion of the great majority of competent observers in the Middle East, unless some such program is undertaken, the whole area will sooner or later move into the sphere of Soviet influence, with incalculable meaning for the future.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Thoughts on Boating

The boating season is at hand and in countless shipyards the man, who had no time to fix the porch screens or repair the doorlatch, is losing weight as he performs miracles of labor on his skiff, scow or sloop. Ask him to put a coat of wax on the dinette table and he rebels in indignation, but he will put two coats of paint on a 38 foot cruisette, reset the engine and build a new galley with the joy of the man on the flying trapeze.

* * *

To appreciate how much a boat will change a man's character take a look in any shipyard this time of year. It is one spot where you will see hard labor under the head of pure enjoyment. It is the last stronghold of the ant and the busy bee, wet, dry and medium.

* * *

The season doesn't get into stride for another month, but a boat owner puts the time, labor and worry into conditioning the yacht that the Egyptians put into building the Pyramids. He never gets from the cruise what he gets from the sandpapering.

* * *

The boat owner goeth to the shipyard in March to start tinkering with the Blue Peter. He getteth his hands chapped in April. He breaketh his back in May. For what? For the privilege of wearing a yachting cap, serving cocktails at sea and looking for a beer opener in rough weather.

* * *

He scrapeth and painteth for 15 weeks to what purpose? So that he may complain to the chairman of the house committee about the bar service, eat in his barefeet, throw the shells overboard after a lobster dinner and spend weeks trying to find out what is the matter with the ship's plumbing.

* * *

He investeth his savings in a cruiser or sloop. He discovereth he is stuck. He laboreth like Hercules to make the darned thing seaworthy. He decorateth it with gay colors. He goeth forth with his dues practically paid up.

* * *

What for?

So he can travel between two given points at five times the time it would take to make the trip by bus. So he can fight tide rips, discover rocks too late, play bridge at an angle of 45 degrees, eat soup out of a sliding bowl, drink salt spray in his coffee and light a cigar with a wet match.

* * *

He buyeth a yachting coat with brass buttons. He buyeth white flannels. He putteth on nifty yachting shoes. What is the big idea? The big idea is to visit strange yacht clubs, spend four or five nights of summer sleeping under clammy sheets on a hard bunk, carry ice 300 yards in ice tongs, worry over scratches in the new varnish and wave warmly to people at sea who never saw him before, and vice versa.

* * *

But he thinketh he hath fun. And maybe he is right. At least when out in a boat he seeth no "No Parking" signs, he encountereth no "Stop" lights and he runneth across no motorcycle cops. Selah! Also ship ahoy and will you have scotch or another look at the compass?

What this department would like to know is how many florists forgot to send their mother anything on Mother's Day.

Screen Test

By TRUMAN TWILL

"What has happened to your screens?" inquired a lifelong subscriber to the paper the other day. "You used to write about the screens every time you put them in."

Nothing has happened to our screens. It isn't time to put in screens yet. The time to put in screens is after the houseflies have come back to Capistrano.

When that happens, get the screens from the place where the kids have been splintering them and kicking their feet through the screen cloth all winter.

The lady of the house wants the screens to be scrubbed, which means they will have to be washed down casually with a hose so the dirt will be loosened up for the first good rainstorm.

Next, open all the windows. This gives the flies an opportunity to come from wherever they are and hold a monster conclave inside the house. Do not be impatient. The flies will come on quickly. Remember, they are house flies.

When the lady of the house screams, "Egghead, for the luva...where is that...children have you seen your...hurry up with those screens or I'll kick your teeth in," take a large screen and try to jam it into a small window. When splinters begin to break off, you have gone far enough.

Try one of the smaller screens. This seems ridiculous, but is a test for ability to judge proportions. Some day you will buy a set of measurers to eliminate this foolishness, but as long as you've waited this long you might as well wait until the 1950's.

In the meantime, flies will be streaming through the open windows. It is more complicated if the wind also is blowing. Lamps will crash to the floor. Papers will fly off desks and tables. Unwary birds will come to a dead end in the living room.

All this is part of the master plan of putting in screens, which are not intended to keep flies and birds from entering houses, contrary to common opinion. They are intended, rather, to incarcerate flies and birds which have trespassed and must pay the supreme penalty.

When the house is full of flies—and birds—work fast. Jam all the screens into the openings where they belong. If worse comes to worst, anchor them with nails. When it's time to take them out someone else may be the fall guy.

Then, with all the windows and doors closed shut, take a folded newspaper and bat the daylights out of the flies—and birds. Discerning householders prefer to bat flies on ceilings, two to one. There also is much to be said for batting a robin on the framed crayon sketch of Grandfather. In this way, the number of flies and birds can be reduced, which is the function of screens.

Two-Party System In Danger, Wallace Warns

By The Associated Press

A cheering, overflow audience of more than 6,000 here last night heard the former vice president criticize congressional policy as "bi-partisan in shortsightedness, selfishness, narrow nationalism and greed."

"I have been asked if I favored a third party," Wallace said. "I always reply that I would rather see two parties in the United States first."

At a press conference before his address, Wallace shunted off questions from newsmen as to his own presidential ambitions, and told last night's rally:

"I have no ambition for myself. I have great ambitions for the idea of one world and a new deal for the world."

Prisons Ordered To Get Photo Files Up To Date

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 16—Ohio prisons were ordered to bring their photograph files up to date—to get pictures of prisoners as they look now and not as they looked when they entered months or years ago.

"In too many cases," State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood declared in announcing the move, "there is little resemblance to what an inmate actually looks like and his photograph on file."

The new policy will help in parole supervision, Sherwood said, and also in finding and arresting ex-convicts sought in connection with some new crime. The prison also will take a new picture every five years of the long termers.

Report Given On Labor Legislation

Harold Townsend, chairman of the legislative committee of the Marion Industrial Union Council, gave a report of labor legislation at a regular meeting of the council Tuesday night in its headquarters at 139 East Center street.

Mr. Townsend, was a participant in the Ohio delegation of the Ohio CIO council at Washington April 24 and 25. The delegation, at the request of the Ohio CIO council, was sent to Washington to urge congressmen from Ohio to vote against pending "anti-labor" bills in congress.

He explained features of the Taft bill to council members. He said "I saw, while in Washington, representatives of labor and the people engaged in a serious struggle to defeat pending anti-labor bills, but I returned home to find the people in Ohio engaged in a vital struggle against the proposed anti-labor Van Aken bill."

Ellis Oiler, president of the Marion CIO council, urged members of the council to "extend their activities against the onslaught of big business to destroy free trade unions." He called attention of members to a radio speech by Phillip Murray, CIO president, to be broadcast over the NBC network Friday at 9:45 p. m. Mr. Murray's subject will be, "Keep Labor Free."

Clarence Chaney of Local 222, transport workers, was elected guide, replacing Miss Mary Williamson of Local 2627, United Steel Workers.

Pair Sue Hospital In Mixup Over Baby's Sex

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 15—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sosa are asking $200,000 damages from the city because, they claim, the wife gave birth to a girl baby at a city hospital but was given a boy baby to take home eight days later.

Dr. Edward M. Bernecker, commissioner of hospitals, denied last night there had been a substitution. He said there had been a clerical error in the report sent to the bureau of records of the health department so that the couple first was issued a birth certificate for a girl baby and later, after the correction had cleared, another certificate for a boy baby.

Green, here to address the convention of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, AFL, said further meetings with Philip Murray, head of the CIO, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, to consider merging, would be held soon.

DETROIT REPORTS NEW CARS ON "USED" LOTS

Hundreds with Less Than 50 Miles Choke Main Yards.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 16 — Reporting on a survey of used automobile lots along Livernois avenue, Detroit's major second-hand car district, the Detroit Free Press yesterday said:

"Hundreds of new 1947 automobiles, many driven less than 50 miles, are being displayed for sale by used-car dealers on Livernois.

"Prices range up to $3,000 with a majority selling for about $500 over list price.

"Investigation disclosed 97 autos of the latest model in eight sales lots. Many of the cars still retained the protective wrapping applied at the factory customarily seen only in new car agencies.

"Salesmen and dealers in the lots said the autos were obtained primarily from car buyers who had placed duplicate orders. The dealers disclaimed any 'subterfuge' on the part of new car dealers."

The Free Press said operators of several lots declared they could not afford to deal in new cars. One operator was quoted as saying:

"I can get all I want of the new jobs, but it doesn't pay; you have to pay too much to get them in your lot."

Reports from the various organizations of the church indicated definite progress along many lines of activity, it was stated, with 72 new members received into the church during the fiscal year which has just closed. It was noted that for the first time in the history of the church the missionary giving exceeded the giving to the current expenses of the church. Total gifts to missionary causes, including more than $5,000 to the special World Mission crusade, reached $10,286, while the total giving to current expenses amounted to $10,086. The receipts of all the organizations of the church added to the general and missionary treasuries make a grand total of approximately $24,000 for the year. Other causes to which the church has made substantial contributions this year include week-day religious education in the public schools, National Veterans' Hospital programs, the Gideons and the American Mission to the Jews.

Supreme Court May Decide On Legality of Anti-Portal Law

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, May 15—The supreme court may have to decide whether the new anti-portal pay law is constitutional.

So, since you may hear more about the law and portal pay, here's an ABC on it.

Portal pay means, roughly, this.

1 Pay claimed by a worker for time spent inside a plant going to and from his job.

2 Or, time spent inside a plant getting ready for work—like sharpening tools or warming up a machine—before he actually starts producing.

James Marlow

In the past year unions, almost all of them CIO, filed suits for back portal pay amounting to about $6,000,000,000.

When many businessmen protested the suits would ruin them, congress started to whip up a law to stop such claims.

Until they could see the outcome of this attempt at an anti-portal pay law, the unions left their suits on ice in courts all over.

They knew there was always the chance President Truman might veto such an act of congress.

Truman Does Hopes

In that case they could take their cases off ice and push ahead with them. But yesterday Mr. Truman signed the act into law.

It kills, or is intended to kill, almost all of the $6,000,000,000 in pending suits. And it swiftly limits future portal pay suits.

A CIO attorney was asked What now? In brief, he said:

Most of the pending suits undoubtedly will be dropped by the unions. But some may think they have cases that can be rushed.

If so, then one of them may reach the supreme court, perhaps in two years, for a decision on whether this law is constitutional.

If the court held it unconstitutional, what then? Would some of the old, killed suits be revived? Would congress pass a new law? You guess.

4 Features in Law

These are the main feature of the new law.

1. It outlaws almost all pending suits. The exceptions, where work was covered by contract or industry practice, for example.

Jones was supposed to start his machine at 8 a. m. He always got in at 7:45 a. m. and warmed it up 15 minutes before putting it to work.

Under the new law Jones can't sue for back pay for those extra 15 minutes unless—

His contract says he should be paid for them or other companies in the same industry customarily paid for such extra time.

2. The same goes for future portal pay suits. They can't be filed unless the pay claimed is for time covered by a contract or industry practice.

3 Suits for back portal pay must be filed within two years after the work was done.

Some of the $6,000,000,000 in pending suits, filed in the past year, are for pay dating back to 1938.

4 In future suits a union can't sue a boss for back portal pay for his workers. The suits must be filed by the workers themselves, not the union.

One of the earliest examples of international organizations was the Universal Postal Union of 1874, whose members agreed on the cooperative and uniform handling of mail, parcel post and money orders passing from one country to another.

TRUMAN WAGE HIKE PROPOSAL SUPPORTED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16—President Truman's boost-the-minimum-wage recommendation won Republican as well as Democratic support in the senate today.

But chances for action this year appear dim.

Even among backers of the Chief Executive's proposal there is controversy whether a new pay "floor" should be fixed at 65 cents an hour as urged by Mr. Truman, or at 55 cents, 75 cents or some other figure. The present minimum is 40 cents. It applies to all workers covered by the wage-hour act, in general those whose output moves across state lines.

While this issue simmered, house-senate conferees on labor disputes legislation assembled for their first try at ironing out differences in two bills designed to check strikes and restrict some union practices.

The big job is what to do about the many curbs which are in the house bill but not the senate's, a near blanket ban on industry-wide collective bargaining for example, and an authorization for private employers to seek injunctions against some strikes and boycotts.

The President's minimum wage recommendation was contained in his message to congress Wednesday approving the anti-portal pay bill.

Marion Trailing 7-0 When Rain Halts Tilt

MUNCIE, Ind., May 16 — The Marion-Muncie game of the Ohio State league was cancelled after four innings of play last night when rain washed out the contest with the Packers leading, 7 to 0. A doubleheader will be played tonight, the first game beginning at 6 p. m.

Marion was at bat in the top of the fifth. There were two men out, the bases were full and a count of one ball had been called on Adams, catcher, when plate Umpire Lew Tolle called time. Jim Hilderbrand, Muncie right hander, had let the Cubs down with but one hit but was troubled with wobbly control.

Muncie scored three runs in the first, and two each in the second and third. Rosin and Witowski pitched for Marion, with Manager Nelson Burbrink and Adams alternating back of the plate.

Zanesville Rolls On, Stopping Giants 15-12

By The Associated Press

Zanesville's Dodgers' ability to outslug all comers enabled the Ohio State league pacesetters to polish off the tough Springfield Giants, 15 to 12, last night.

The victory was the Dodgers' ninth in 10 starts and knocked the Giants four games off the pace and a game behind Marion. Bill Scally hit his third home run of the year for the Giants.

Another slugfest was played at Richmond (Ind.) where the Lima Terriers squeezed out a 10 to 9 verdict, featured by catcher Jack Maisch's five hits in five batting trips.

Dayton's Indians took the Newark Browns, 4 to 2, behind Joe Jackson's four-hit hurling and timely hitting by his mates in the sixth.

ANTI-BRIBE LAW SIGNED

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, May 16 — It is against the law now in Massachusetts to offer or accept a bribe in athletic contests and sporting events. Gov. Bradford has signed into law a bill setting up penalties of $500 fines or two years sentences in jail, or both, for violations.

Things Have Changed With "Red" Trautman Since He Played Football At Bucyrus in the 1900's

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., May 16—Tales of Trautman — or a trip down memory's lane with George M. (Red) Trautman, president of baseball's minor leagues.

Things have changed since the now slightly - balding, red - gray haired guy played football at Bucyrus High school back in the century's first decade.

One day the Bucyrus team traveled to Fostoria for a game, and being slightly dubious about the outcome had picked up eight or 10 non-students from industrial plants, etc., to help its cause. The talented recruits were fitted out in school uniforms, and each was handed a noseguard, a rubber gadget much in vogue in those days, to hide his face.

Fostoria, amazed at the size, speed and strength of the invading horde, refused to play until the Bucyrus team had doffed its nose guards and paraded in front of the Bucyrus principal for identification as students. Half the team ran up an alley and escaped, rather than parade before the unsuspecting principal, and the game was called off because Bucyrus didn't have enough players left.

Shortest Playing Career

Trautman, as a player, probably had the shortest professional baseball career on record. Back in 1919 he stopped off to see his brother Fred, a player with the Hartford, Conn., team managed by Frank Delahanty, who was in dire need of players.

Delahanty signed Trautman about noon, used him at center field in a doubleheader and fired him right after the second game. George had one error and no hits.

Early Business Man

Red displayed his astuteness as a business man early in life. He coached football at Fostoria High school for two years, 1914 and 1915, and was tied only once in two unbeaten years. Pete Stinchcomb, later to become an All-America at Ohio State, was his star.

L. W. St. John, seeking Stinchcomb for the Buckeye squad, approached Trautman and asked:

"Will you send Stinchcomb to Ohio State?"

And Trautman's all-or-nothing reply was:

"I won't send him — but I'll bring him."

So Trautman moved down to Ohio State's athletic department, finally becoming varsity basketball and baseball coach and assistant athletic director—from where he stepped to head of the Columbus convention bureau, president of the Columbus Red Birds who won two straight Association pennants and two junior World Series for him; to president of the Association, to vice president and general manager of the Detroit Tigers, to his present $25,000 job as boss of the bushers.

Defines Detrimental

Although he was elected to every honorary society on Ohio State's campus—except those requiring academic excellence — Trautman came up with one of the finest "thought" when asked to define the much-discussed phrase "detrimental to baseball" under which Commissioner A. B. Chandler pushed Leo (The Lip) Durocher out of the game for a year. No one else has attempted to tie down the phrase, but to Trautman "detrimental to baseball means:

"Anything you wouldn't want your own son to do."

High Scoring Features Industrial Softball Play

The Industrial softball loop got rolling yesterday with all ... ning teams at least doubling the scores of their opponents. ... the Commercial league, rained out Tuesday, has failed to play ... the infant season.

Quaker Oats and General Excavator both played errorless ball ... as the Quakers got an 8 to 4 victory.

Commercial Steel baserunners capitalized on mistakes by Ohio Public Service, getting a 20 to 1 win in a game that was called because of darkness in the sixth. F. Reeder and R. Frank each smashed out four baggers and Biggerstaff batted three for four for Commercial.

O. P. S. twirler Aldrich had a perfect day at the plate as he connected for four of his team's six hits.

Four runs in the fifth by Ohio Associated Telephone broke a 3 to 5 tie and the Phone boys won 11 to 5 going away. Johnson of O. A. T. led the hit parade with three doubles in four trips.

Osgood jumped on McMillen to win 11 to 3. D. Heales lead batters with three for five.

MULLIN MAY TAKE GREENBERG'S PLACE

With .444 Average Husky Irishman Best Bet.

By The Associated Press

Pat Mullin, the toast of Detroit with a .444 batting average, is driving in the runs that Hank Greenberg used to knock home.

When the husky Irishman from Trotter, Pa., arrived at the Lakeland, Fla., training base this spring, he was just another ball player fighting for a job. Mullin had dislocated his right shoulder in a collision with Chicago's Bill Dietrich July 2, 1941 and he was slowing regaining his pre-war form after four years in service.

With a year behind him, Mullin again has looked like his old self, leading the league with 13 doubles and hitting some 80 points better than anybody else in the majors. Of his 32 hits, 20 have been for extra bases including six homers and he has knocked in 14 runs in 20 games.

If anybody is going to take Greenberg's place at Detroit this season, all the early evidence points to Pat.

Mullin's second-inning homer yesterday with Wakefield on base gave Detroit an early lead. After Philadelphia tied the score and the clubs had battled to the 14th, Mullin again opened the winning rally with a single to left to set the stage for Doc Cramer's tie-breaking single.

Dizzy Trout, who required relief in the last of the 14th received credit for the 4-2 victory over the A's.

The win solidified Detroit's lead in the American league because Boston fell before St. Louis, 2-1, dropping two games back. In night games Chicago thumped New York 8-2 and Cleveland shackled Washington, 9-1.

Chicago clung to the National league lead despite a 8-3 drubbing by New York, because Boston was succumbing to St. Louis in a night game, 8-2. Brooklyn dropped its third straight in the west, bowing to Pittsburgh, 7-3, and Cincinnati broke out with a flurry of five homers to thump Philadelphia, 11-3.

Rookie Bryan Stephens Hurls 9-1 Victory Over Nats in Bid for Tribe's No. 4 Spot

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 16 — Rookie Bryan Stephens, lanky righthanded fastballer, was the leading candidate today for the No. 4 spot on the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff.

Exhibiting fine control, Stephens scattered eight hits and bore down in the clinches last night to notch a 9-1 victory over the Washington Nationals in his first major league start.

Tribe Manager Lou Boudreau, who aided the young hurler with some sensational fielding and batted in four runs, indicated after the game that Stephens would be given an opportunity to pitch regularly this summer.

The Tribe slammed 14 hits off three Washington hurlers. Pat Seerey lined a two-run triple to left field for Cleveland in the third, breaking a 1-1 tie, and Cleveland was in front from there on.

Don Black (2-2) will take the mound for the Tribe tonight against Washington right-hander Walt Masterson.

SCHLAIRET BOOKS GAME

Schlairet will go after win No. 1 at McKinley park Sunday afternoon entertaining Galion Moose. Either King Bacon or Don Kay will draw mound assignments and Harold Dillion will be behind the plate.

RACE MEET OPENS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 16 — Racing returns to northern Ohio today with opening of a 44-day meeting at near-by Randall Park.

HARDING SPORTS TO END ON WET TRACK

Rained-Out Program Wind-Up Set Wednesday.

With commencement and summer vacation coming up, the Harding spring sports program is going into the last lap on a wet track.

The final regular event of the school year will be a track meet at Columbus with Upper Arlington and Grandview next Wednesday. The final baseball game of the season is a probable affair with Galion this afternoon.

Going to their last meet, the Harding scant clads boast no envious record. They have run in the Ohio Wesleyan relays, the Newark relays, and the Ashland Invitational, failing to notch a place with the leaders in any of these events.

The only home track meet was with Caledonia and the Prexies outpointed the county's No. 2 organization. A meet with Pleasant, the champ, was rained out.

Baseball Coach W. N. Wiley had a lot of experience to work with this season but it was impossible to play as many games as were planned. In five games the club won three and the school had planned to send its outfit into about 11 tilts.

This is one sport in which backers can really cry, wait till next year. Only one position, first base, has been held down by a senior this spring so graduation's bite will go almost unfelt.

Night Softball Loop Produces Big Scores

Lopsided scores were made in the opening games of the Marion Night league at Crystal lake park last night.

Schlairet runners scampered across the plate 25 times while Marion Engineering Depot picked up only one run. The game was featured by Schlairet Manager Somerlot's six bingles in six trips and a home run by Dillion in the fourth.

With brothers Fritz and Woody Walters leading the attack, Marion Power Shovel topped Junior Chamber of Commerce 12 to 2. Woody hit three for four and Fritz three for five. Fletcher added to the total with a homer in the fourth.

REDS UNLEASH HOME RUN BARRAGE TO DOWN PHILS

Lukon Chief Artilleryman with 2 Circuit Drives.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 16 — Outfielder Lukon was chief artilleryman here yesterday as Cincinnati Reds surprised 3,000 by unleasing a barrage of home runs as they shellacked Philadelphia's Phils, 11-3.

Lukon, whose fielding weaknesses kept him on the bench until Augie Galan injured a leg, smacked two circuit drives. He belted the first in the third inning with two mates aboard and the second in the sixth while the sacks were depopulated.

Those five out-of-the-park smashes accounted for all but two of the Cincinnati markers. Other homer contributors were:

Bert Haas, two on in the fourth; Ray Mueller, none on in the fourth; and Grady Hatton, one on in the sixth.

Del Ennis, sensational sophomore outfielder, saved the Phils' face in the home run department by lining out a three-run roundtripper in the eighth off Eddie Erautt, who notched his first mound victory after losing his first three starts.

Robinson Slugfest On WMRN Tonight

Harlem's Ray "Sugar" Robinson, world welterweight champion, tonight tackles the clevernut boxer in the middleweight division, Georgie Abrams (above) of Brooklyn. The match is billed for ten rounds at Madison Square Garden and the title is not at stake.

Crafty Abrams knows all the moves and punches. Unlike most opponents of ring science, his style is unorthodox. Georgie is a sharp counter-punching crowd pleaser. However, he will have to step some if he hopes to keep Robinson from landing those lightning left jabs and right crosses that he left in a shower of sparks on Bobby Dykes and Jose Basora.

Robinson, who is considered by many ring experts as the best welterweight champion since Barney Ross, has been training hard for the bout. He had to shed 20 pounds to make the 147 pound limit.

Today Ray tipped the scales at 145 pounds and looked in the best of condition.

Abrams, who has been training at Stillman's gym, has been working on his defense. He has been boxing with Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland Negro heavyweight, who has been giving him a stiff workout.

Harding Orchestra Presents Annual Concert at Palace

By FRANCES HAAS

An audience of 1,200 persons Thursday night heard the Harding High school orchestra and guest soloist, Miss Shirley Ann Givens of Louisville, O., an outstanding 15-year-old violinist in the annual spring concert at the Palace theater. Under the skillful baton of Homer Huffman, the orchestra gave a performance deserving of the generous applause which the audience gave, in appreciation of the presentation of overtures, concertos, waltzes and marches by the orchestra.

The soloist, Miss Shirley Ann Givens, displayed precision in her violin numbers and won the praise of her audience. Her light and quick touch to the strings which brought out every note even in the most difficult passages made her selections highly enjoyable.

Played "Gypsy Airs"

Accompanied by the orchestra, Miss Givens, who has concertized extensively, having appeared as violin soloist with the Canton Symphony orchestra, played "Gypsy Airs" by Sarasate-Roberts. Her rendition of the concert selection was a revelation, and she captivated her audience with a warm tone and faultless technic.

Returned to the stage twice by prolonged applause, Miss Givens presented, with orchestra accompaniment, "Schon Rosmarin" Kreisler, and then played without accompaniment, "From the Cane Brake" by Gardner.

A colorful setting on the stage of the theater was provided by the girls of the orchestra, which is composed of 43 members, nine of whom are seniors, in varicolored spring formals and the boys appeared in tuxedos.

The singing and playing of the national anthem opened the concert. As the first selection, the orchestra played an overture, "Cosi Fan Tutti" by Mozart. This overture was written in 1790, one year before Mozart's death, for the opera by the same name. The next selection, the "Allegro" from a serenade, "Eine Kleine Nacht-Musick" by Mozart, was for strings alone. The title means, literally, "Little Night Music."

"Perpetual Motion" by Johann Strauss was then played and the orchestra closed the first portion of the program with the "Weber Suite" arranged by Tom Clark. The suite has six movements, "March of the Peasants," the theme, and "Huntsmen's Chorus," all from the opera "Der Freischultz," "Andante Opus 3 No. 4," theme from "Invitation to the Dance," and "Minuet Opus 3 No. 3."

Plays With Orchestra

During the second part of the program which was opened with "March Slav" by Tschaikowsky-Herfruth," Miss Givens played with the orchestra. In the opening bars of the march, a dirge-like chant is heard, followed by a gay folk song which in turn changes into the Russian national anthem.

The next selection, "Themes from Piano Concerto No. 2" by Rachaninoff-Herfruth had solo piano parts played by the pianist for the orchestra, Nancy Kuntz. To complete the program, the orchestra played "Night Song" by Charles Edwin Williams, selections from "The Student Prince" by Romberg, and "Triumphal March" from "Aida" by Verdi.

Applause from the audience was rewarded with a march "Connecticut."

Nearly 1,000 boys and girls from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the various schools in the city, accompanied by teachers, attended a program given by the orchestra and Miss Givens in the afternoon at the theater.

The Band and Orchestra Parents' association sponsored the concert, and also the one presented earlier in the year by the Harding band.

Kiwanis Club Hears Discussion Of Modern Zoning Regulations

Marion Kiwanis club members and guests, meeting in Hotel Harding for their weekly luncheon Thursday noon, heard representatives of the city planning commission explain the needs for modernization of city zoning ordinances to take Marion out of the "hodge-podge" stage.

The meeting featured a panel discussion by Mayor Harry L. Dowler, Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher, Henry Krigbaum and Robert T. Mason, city planning commission members. W. E. Orcutt was in charge of the program.

Mayor Dowler opened the discussion by giving a general background of the history of zoning in the United States. He described how the growth of cities led to the necessity of zoning legislation. Zoning was first introduced in Ohio in 1915, he said. He told the group the zoning ordinance for Marion was passed in 1930 and still is in effect, although it was amended in 1939. He said lack of interest of the people of Marion in the advantages of zoning was partly responsible for the lack of a modern zoning program here.

Describes Present Laws

Mr. Uncapher described the city's present zoning laws and displayed four zoning maps to show the residential, commercial, industrial and unrestricted zones in the city. One of Marion's principal problems, he said, is the desire of persons owning lots in residential areas to establish businesses on their own lots instead of moving into a business zone. Such actions have resulted in "spot" zoning throughout the city, with stores and other business enterprizes located in residential areas.

Mr. Krigbaum explained the program now being considered by the city planning commission to correct "spot" zoning. He told Kiwanians the commission now is attempting to extend industrial and commercial zones to provide space for businesses now located in residential zones. He explained that the ordinance of 1930 still was fairly accurate, but added that there were certain changes necessary to bring it up to date. By providing additional space in industrial and commercial zones, much of the commercial enterprizes in the residential areas may be eliminated, he said. The commission hopes to have its recommendatinos ready for city council within the next few weeks.

Cites Zoning Benefits

Mr. Mason explained the benefits which could result from proper zoning and called for an over-all visionary, long range plan to provide a systematic program of industrial, commercial and residential zoning. He told the group the city has outgrown the "hodge-podge" stage of "spot" zoning and needs a program which will attract outside industries and businesses.

In a questionnaire passed to club members and guests on zoning questions, 65 voted "yes" to the question "Is zoning sufficiently important to a municipality to justify the time and effort required?" Two voted "no" to the question. Fourteen said they favored "spot" zoning and 46 said they favored "area" zoning. To the question "Would you object to having a commercial enterprize located next to your home?" 51 voted "yes" and 13 voted "no."

John Cleveland, president of the Kiwanis club, presided at the meeting. A report was given by Cutler A. McGrew, chairman of the club's committee raising funds for the Glenwood playground project. He said 130 gum machines now have been distributed in businesses and industries in the city to collect funds for the project. The committee plans to distribute approximately 100 more, he said.

Club guests included Mr. Uncapher, Andrew Baldauf, Henry Drake and John Plank.

Mr. Drake and Mr. Baldauf are members of the city planning commission. Other members, besides those taking part in the panel discussion, are Mr. Orcutt and William Kraner.

Cigaret Licenses Placed On Sale

New licenses for wholesale and retail cigaret dealers now are on sale at the Marion county auditor's office, that office reported today.

The new licenses are for the period beginning May 26 and running to May 24, 1948. Deadline for 1946-47 licenses is May 25.

Last year Marion county set an all-time record for the sale of retail cigaret licenses. The 314 sold was approximately 60 higher than any previous year, the county auditor's office reported. Four wholesale licenses were sold last year.

Retail licenses cost $25 and wholesale licenses $100.

ELKS PLAN WOOSTER VISIT

Members from here plan to attend the one-day session, which will include a business session at 2 p. m. A bridge in the afternoon is scheduled for visiting ladies. Final plans were made for the seafood dinner for members and their wives here next Friday night.

Brethren Church Holds Mother-Daughter Dinner

More than 100 attended a mother-daughter dinner held by First Church of the Brethren Wednesday night in the basement social room of the church. In keeping with the theme for the program, "Mother's Vacation," the dinner was a picnic lunch menu, and table decorations consisted of miniature reproductions of places of tourist interest, with highway and railroad centering the long tables, with maps and vacation scenes decorating the walls. Centerpiece as the speaker's table was "home," with a blue-roofed house surrounded by a yard with flowers and bushes and tiny white fence.

The program took the mothers on an imaginary trip. Toastmistress was Mrs. Homer Eber, who gave a welcome and an introduction to each part of the program. A toast to mothers was by Mrs. Glen Chard, with Mrs. Marvin Hornbeck giving the reply, followed by a skit, "Mother's Vacation," by Joan Cahill, Birdie Mae Borland, Joan Clark, Evelyn Gay, Suzanne Blessing and Judy Cowgill; trio number, Mrs. Chard, Mrs. Jack Reidenbaugh and Mrs. Albert Cooperider; noems, Miss Maryann Borland, Miss Leah M. Hertzler, Mrs. Willis Lamb; trio; poem, Sue Ann Graham; closing verses, Mrs. Eber, and benediction.

Committees included Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Reidenbaugh and Mrs. Chard, program; Miss Hertzler, Miss Avis Kint and Miss Grace Bibbee, decorations; and Mrs. Frank Cahill, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. E. P. McAfee and Mrs. Burley Rutter, dinner. Mrs. Harold Graham was general chairman.

Programs on the Air

The millions who have become listeners to the Sunday evening ABC broadcasts of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" will find the program at the same familiar spot on the dial and at the same time throughout the summer months. The program will not take a summer vacation. "The teachings of The Master through the magic of radio," Paul W. Litchfield, chairman of the board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., which presents the broadcasts, said, "know no seasonal or geographic limitations. Particularly in the troubled world of today, the messages of tolerance, love and understanding contained in the program are needed as sorely in the summer months as during the other seasons of the year." The program is heard Sundays at 5:30 p. m. over the coast-to-coast network of the American Broadcasting Co.

Representative Vito Marcantonio, focal point of bitter political wrangling in New York state, will be the guest on the Mutual Network's press conference of the air, "Meet the Press," for the broadcast of Friday, May 23, at 9 p. m. Mr. Marcantonio, an outspoken liberal member of congress, was reelected as a combination American Labor-Democratic party nominee from New York City.

Of interest to stamp collectors in Marion and the area will be a 15-minute broadcast over station WMRN Saturday at 10:15 a. m. of the official opening of the Centenary International Philatelic Exhibition in New York. This broadcast was arranged through the American Broadcasting Co. The exhibition, the largest in the world, will include King George of England's personal collection and a single stamp valued at $50,000.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

MARKET HESITANT AS STOCKS BECOME COY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 16—Hesitancy ruled today's stock market with a few favorites extending the recovery of Thursday while many leaders backed into the minus ranks.

Further nibbling by professionals was attributed to the idea the list had been oversold.

The new 5-for-1 splitup Eastman Kodak common was down 2 points or so from its initial quotation of 46⅞. Guantanamo Sugar was up about a point in reflection of the first common dividend in a number of years.

Resistant were International Nickel, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Union Carbide, U. S. Gypsum, Great Northern Railway, Texas Co., Hemstake Mining (at a 1947 peak) and International Paper. Losers were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Southern Railway, Norfolk and Western, Allied Chemical, Boeing, Glenn Martin (at a new low in the wake of an omitted dividend), Lockheed, American Car and Foundry and Bohn Aluminum.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"SO far, so good," my husband told me with a judicial air, as he took the blankets and pillow and bed linen from me. "And I'll be easy on you. I'll have the couch transformed into a bed in three minutes flat, as I promised. But I'll give you five minutes—count them—to get yourself out here, ready for me to tuck you up. And I'll have you know that as a tucker-up, I have no peers."

I threw him a kiss as I turned back to the bedroom.

"Junior, Roderick and Faith will all bear witness to that," I told him.

"Are you telling me?" he retorted cockily, and for the next five minutes, I hurried through disrobing, a quick sponge, the braiding of my hair, and getting into my night things.

Then, promptly on the second, I trailed my negligee back through the door, shuffling into my slippers as I went.

"All ready, my lord and master, if it please your Lordship," I said with my eyes cast down.

The next instant I was swept off the floor and held high in the air.

"If you weren't so tired, I'd paddle you with a stick three times thicker than my thumb, and to heck with the old English law!" he said. "But if you'll say 'Uncle' nicely, I'll let you off."

In Mortal Terror

"'Uncle,'" I squeaked, as if in mortal terror, and he laughed as he carried me over to the couch, and put me down upon it.

"You needed that bit of tripe," he said, as he tucked me in skillfully. "Now I'm going into the bedroom and read by that shaded light over in the corner, while I keep one eye on Mary."

"But," I said, "you'll need a smoke."

"I shan't die if I don't get one," he returned. "But if I need one, I can come in to the armchair here, place it so the smoke will drift toward you instead of Mary, and take a short one while I'm watching her long distance, as it were. Does that satisfy you?"

"Perfectly," I said. "Will you call me in four hours, please? Remember I've had an hour's nap."

"No, I won't call you in any four hours," he said with decision. "You've got something on hand in the morning when Mary wakes up and goes into action again. And you've got to be full of 'wim, wigor,' and all the rest of it."

"Patient Griselda"

"May I ask when you do intend to call me?" I asked, still enacting the role of "Patient Griselda."

"Oh, about seven o'clock," he said. "Jack goes at six, and I suppose Katrina will get herself over here shortly afterward."

If there is anything dearer—or more exasperating—than a husband who has decided that you need coddling, and is determined you shall have it, no matter what the necessities of life confronting you may be, I never have experienced it.

I knew that Mary might waken before seven, although the chances were against it, and I was sure that both Dr. Twitchell and Katharine would be at the apartment before that hour. But I also knew that there was no use combatting Dicky's decision for awhile. I might better get some sleep before I started to joust.

I had one trick up my sleeve and wondered if Dicky had forgotten it. If I set my mind on an hour of waking before I go to bed, my mental alarm clocks bring me to wakefulness within fifteen minutes of the time. So I snuggled down into my blankets after Dicky had kissed me good-night, and with a capitulating, "All right. Good-night, dearest," I closed my eyes, summoned my will power, set my mental alarm clock for four thirty and slipped off into slumber almost instantly.

Smoking a Cigaret

When I awakened, at a quarter of five, Dicky was smoking a cigaret in the armchair near the doorway into Mary's room. I yawned, stretched luxuriously, then sat upright, and struggling into my negligee, bent to put on my slippers.

Dicky rose and walked across to me.

"Thought you'd put something over on me by setting that mental alarm clock of yours, didn't you?" he said. "But I figure I'm the winnah, anyway. If I'd told you I'd waken you in four hours, you'd have figured I was lying, and you probably would have lain awake figuring out what hour would be best to waken yourself."

"Machiavelli!" I gibed. "Now, I'll be back in here in twenty minutes. Please carry on until that time. Then I shall take over, and you're going to bed."
